the tree: How to make it big in the new world of digital networks The world of digital media is changing fast. The online world is growing and it seems that journalism organisations are not far behind. Business models are under review. There is an expectation that those who deliver online media will increasingly deliver content for free. But there is a growing demand from readers for in-depth, high quality, truly independent journalism, and people are willing to pay for the content they desire. So, how to make it big in the new world of digital networks? Here are five tips for digital media professionals. 1. Tell people what you will do Every newsroom needs to be clear on what it wants to do, and what it wants to avoid, in a media marketplace driven by the Internet. When I am part of a network, we draw up an overview of what we hope to do, how we hope to position ourselves in our community, in our market, in our global market. After that, we need to go out into the community and begin to tell people what we do. That is a lot of resources for a small organisation. 2. 5ec8ef588b
