Such adhesives are needed for bonding together a wide range of substrates that cannot be bonded by other means. Conductive adhesives have also found increasing uses in the electrical industry. One of the early uses of conductive adhesives is for wrapping cable or other electrical components where it is important to provide a high electrical conductivity between the cable and the substrate. U.S. Pat. No. 5,460,667 to Chen et al. (which is incorporated by reference herein) teaches using a conductive adhesive as the sealant for a thermoplastic substrate
